ARGUMENT BEFORE I. C. C. ON RATE INCREASE PLEA

counsel for the road, Louis Brandeis, the commission's special counsel, de-clared that the only new fact adduced to justify their plea was the European war. No specific showing had been made, he said, as to the injustice of any existing rates, and he expressed the opinion that if the commission saw ilt to grant the advance, thereby modi-fying its previous ruling, it would ex-ceed its legal powers and invade the province of Congress to declare governmental policies.

F. B. James and F. E. Paulson, representing shippers of brick and tile;
Frank L. Yon and Charles M. Johnston. Frank L. Yon and Charles M. Johnston, representing Pennsylvania coal producers; Luther M. Walters, representing lumber and live stock shippers, and Rush Butler, counsel for the Chicago Association of Commerce, all argued that nothing had been brought out at the new hearings to justify the advance of any specific rate.

The case for the railroads was opened by George S. Patterson, of the Pennsylvania system, who was followed by D. J. Minnis, of the Wabash; O. E. Mr. Patterson urged that the proposed increase was reasonable, and declared the roads were not asking for them "as a matter of grace."

A Richmond Invention Which Will Revolutionize Broiling, Baking and Other Forms of Cooking

Our Exhibit yesterday at Murphy's Hotel was a great success, pleasing many Richmonders, including the Mayor.

The Noreck Broiler will broil food in a superior manner in the short space of five to twelve minutes. The consumption of gas is reduced to a minimum, as the Noreck Broiler saved $6.38 in ten days, as compared to a broiler using charcoal. Forty steaks hourly can be broiled easily with the Norcck Broiler.

Among the many advantages of the Noreck Broiler are the Heat comes in direct contact with the food.

Cooks on both sides at the same time. Cooks in half the time required by other methods.

Food does not have to be touched or turned until done. All the natural food juices are retained, thus vastly improving the flavor of foods.

Broiling and baking can be done at the same time with the A whole chicken can be broiled without cutting.

Can roast oysters in shells. In short, the science of broiling is revolutionized by the Noreck Broiler through the movable burners.

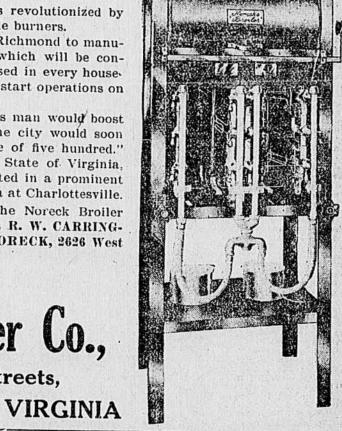

A company has been organized in Richmond to manufacture and sell the Noreck Broiler, which will be connected with gas ranges, so it can be used in every household, and plans have been perfected to start operations on a broad scale in the near future.

Mr. Noreck says: "If every business man would boost Richmond as Alvin M. Smith does, the city would soon have a thousand smokestacks in place of five hundred."

Mr. Noreck is well known in the State of Virginia, having been for thirteen years connected in a prominent capacity with the University of Virginia at Charlottesville.
